Value-added water is comprised of flavored, enhanced, essence and alkaline waters, together which provide value above and beyond “just hydration.” The larger single-serve water segment includes both value-added water and retail PET water.

- The segments comprising value-added water are flavored sweetened still, flavored sweetened still enhanced (with minerals and vitamins), unsweetened flavored (or unflavored) essence, oxygenated, alkaline and structured/clustered.
- Throughout this report, in the discussion of wholesale dollars, structured and oxygenated waters are grouped with enhanced waters. Alkaline waters have been broken out as a separate item.
- Value-added water represents about 22% of total wholesale dollars for the single-serve water category.
- On a volumetric basis, value-added water comprises approximately 7% of total single-serve water; premium pricing makes value share much higher.

Much of the new-product activity in the category has been in the enhanced water segment. Caffeinated and oxygenated brands were the pioneers, coming out more than 20 years ago; but none ever reached critical mass.

- In the mid-1990s, Water Joe caffeinated water made a minor splash. Later in the decade came Clearly Canadian O+2 oxygenated. Penta and Coral Water structured waters also debuted in the late 1990s.
- Vitamin-enhanced waters began to gain traction in 2000 with Glacéau Vitaminwater. Others emerged, such as Propel, which continues to be a good revenue source for PepsiCo.
- In 2005, flavored waters such as Nestlé Pure Life, Aquafina FlavorSplash and Dasani flavors hit the market. But the flavored water segment has not seen a whole lot of activity since.
